Profile

Driven and adaptable final-year Bachelor of Computing student specializing in Software Engineering. Recently completed a Systems Analyst learnership at FNB, where I gained practical experience in enterprise systems analysis, requirements gathering, and full-cycle software development.

Proven ability to translate business needs into efficient technical solutions using Java, C#, SQL, JavaScript, HTML/CSS, Node.js, Git, and Docker in agile environments. Passionate about building scalable, user-focused applications and continuously expanding my skill set with new technologies such as Python.

Eager to leverage my strong technical foundation, problem-solving skills, and real-world banking experience to contribute immediately and grow within a dynamic development team.
